

WHO ARE WE

In its second year, DV SnapShots is an initiative of WINspire, a not for profit that believes in the power of positive collaboration for a good cause. Yes, we are survivors and supporters standing together to 'SPEAK OUT' against domestic violence. With a passion to 'inspire, empower and transform' South Australians, we aim to influence the views of professionals, politicians, government, businesses, not for profit and survivors alike. We come from all walks of life. We are academics, professionals, business owners, organisational founders and stay-at-home mothers and fathers – we are everyday people.

NEVER ALONE  luke batty foundation

Stand with Rosie Batty and every victim of family violence.

Survivors are no longer remaining silent, as Rosie Batty, 2015 Australian of the Year, has so powerfully proven. We are all part of the conversation – to banish societal masks of fear, shame and isolation.

ENDORSEMENTS

Emeritus Professor Anne R Edwards

"DV SnapShots 2014 "...was a perfect example of the value of a community-based initiative to share knowledge, experience and ideas for action on this critical public issue that is capturing wide national attention. The particular value of this event was its success in attracting politicians and policy makers as well as service providers, professionals, representatives of business and the not-for-profit sector, and survivors and families who have experienced domestic and family violence and providing a number of opportunities for communication, exchange of views and engagement between the participants."

Are you ready to SPEAK OUT? As a South Australian, will you stand united against this crime?

See All - Hear All - Feel All

We live in a society that strives for a better future. Unfortunately, for families suffering from domestic violence, that future isn't so bright.

The tragic circumstance of Chloë Valentine's death in 2012 shocked our state and shone a spotlight on how child abuse and neglect are an insidious part of domestic violence (DV).

DV is not just intimate partner violence, it involves the whole family. Children are the innocent and silent victims of today who see all, hear all, feel all. Statistics reveal cycles are often repeated, creating a new generation of victims and perpetrators.

So far this year, as quoted by the new Prime Minister in his first week, a staggering 63 women have lost their lives due to DV situations (and rising). This figure doesn't include the vast number of families that continue to be severely damaged by the ongoing and terrifying effects of DV, much of which still goes unreported and unidentified by authorities.

The $100 million recently committed by the Prime Minister to stamp out this scourge is a positive step in the right direction. However, so much more needs to be done to prevent this debilitating and insidious form of abuse, which tears apart the very fabric of our society.

We all need to listen and learn from those who bravely speak out about their fearful experiences.
- Only then can the cycle of abuse be broken.

DV SnapShots SPECTRUM

In 2014 we 'Lifted the Lid' to break DV Survivor stereotypes and reveal that no-one is immune to DV. It does not discriminate and can occur whenever there is a power imbalance within a family structure, no matter of social standing, economic background or culture.

The Spectrum, developed by Survivors, reveals individual experiences while redirecting their focus, skills and passion toward collaborations with businesses, sector experts and politicians. Sharing knowledge and advocating change is the end goal.

Domestic Violence is at the Core of many of today's Societal Issues.
